2019 FCSR Fellowship Program

Fondazione Centro San Raffaele (FCSR) aims to support research in genetics of human disease by funding ten 2-year contracts (collaborazione coordinata e continuativa) for young scientists.

1. Eligibility criteria for applicants

At the time of the deadline for submission the following eligibility criteria must be met:

1. Applicants should be younger than 40 at submission deadline;
2. Applicants must have a degree in relevant fields. In particular the degree must be an Italian “Laurea magistralis”, i.e. 5-6 years of undergraduate degree, or an Italian “Laurea specialistica”, or an equivalent non-Italian degree that would allow access to Ph.D. programs; candidates who only have a “Laurea breve” are not eligible;
3. Applicants can be of any nationality and are not expected to reside in Italy at the time of the submission deadline;
4. A maximum of two candidates per hosting unit can apply.

Applications from scientists who do not meet these requirements will be rejected.

2. Hosting Institution

Fondazione Centro San Raffaele, Ospedale San Raffaele (OSR) and Università Vita-Salute San Raffaele (UniSR).

3. Funding

The gross amount of each contract is 20.245€ per year (25.000€ total employee cost per year). Contracts have a duration of 2 years.

4. The research project

Applications must include a detailed research plan, agreed with the head of the hosting lab. The proposed research plan should focus on any genetic aspect of human disease, highly innovative, feasible and internationally competitive. The project should be suited to the applicant’s stage of career and be consistent with the work of one person.

5. Review Criteria

The following review criteria will be applied:

1. Research project

- a. Innovation
- b. Scientific/technological quality and clarity of the research plan
- c. Feasibility
- d. Preliminary data (optional)
